So how does The Art Light differ from other picture lights?

Traditional Picture Light

Unlit

The Art Light

Say 'goodbye' to:

- the shiny foreheads and over-exposed cloudy skies while the rest of the painting subsides into indistinct gloom and colourless shadow;
- the distracting and damaging hot-spots associated with traditional tungsten filament lamps;
- the maintenance hassles to deal with erratic lamp failures and the carting around of cumbersome ladders for re-lamping;
- the chilly blue hues delivered by standard LED striplights which bleach out rich colours and flatten a painting's profile.

Instead, say 'hello' to beautifully illuminated fine art with The Art Light.

Unique Flexibility of The Art Light

The Art Light features a unique combination of lensed LED heads which can be:

- Selectively positioned across the span of the picture;
- Available – interchangeably – in several beam spread profiles;
- Adjusted in aspect against the face of the painting.

These features give unprecedented control over the distribution and uniformity of the light coverage and, in combination with a range of supporting arm sizes, mean that The Art Light can be tailored to suit any piece of art, however large or small.

Its inherent features also mean that The Art Light can be successfully transferred between paintings of different shapes and sizes with a simple re-configuration and re-alignment of the lensed LED heads – so they are re-usable and transportable, time and time again.
